The Story

Longtime residents of our community have seen the growth of Arroyo Grande Community Hospital firsthand. Carrol Pruett has been involved with the hospital since it first opened in 1962 – first as a banker that helped provide financing for the local founding doctors to get the hospital's doors open, and later as a member of the Hospital Community Board. Of course, raising a family in Arroyo Grande meant visiting the hospital as a patient or concerned parent a number of times as well. "In the past 56 years, I have seen our hospital grow, experience occasional setbacks, and develop to where it is today – a modern, well-equipped medical facility with professional and caring personnel, delivering quality medical care for our local area," said Carrol.

When the Foundation was established in 2005, he was one of its earliest supporters. He said, "My wife Joan and I both recognized early on the need for quality local medical service, and when the Foundation was formed, we determined that this was an excellent vehicle to support the hospital and help expand its services and service levels."

Carrol hopes that the hospital can continue to grow to meet the changing needs of our community members, and to provide a full scope of medical facilities that will prevent the need to leave the area for care. He knows that the Carrol Pruett Philanthropic Fraternity will help. "Philanthropy is important as our hospital is in constant need to keep up with new technology and expanding services. Much of this just cannot be met via daily operating revenues. Our Philanthropic Fraternity will raise funds to support some of these needs," he said.
